

There is no way you should get rid of the no-call list, it has been peaceful without telemarketers calling all the time. I am a stay at home mom and I couldn't even answer the phone all day because it would be a telemarketer. This is my home and I should not have to be bothered by these people calling me. If I want someone to contact me, I should have the choice, and I can give them permission.